West Paris voters favor 'dumpsters'

West Paris voters at Monday night's special town meeting voted unanimously to approve the concept of placing solid waste in dumpsters and paying for it to be hauled off, probably to the Auburn incinerator.

The selectmen were unable to provide answers for many of the questions posed by the voters, such as, is the $25,000 estimated as the yearly expense of operating the "green box" system accurate; how much will it cost to prepare the landfill as a dumpster site and redesign the tractor shed into an attendant's shelter; will Auburn give any guarantee that the contract won't be terminated after the initial period; and how long will the contract be good for.

Moderator Vernon Inman wondered aloud, "Will we abandon our landfill and at the end of (the contract period) find that they (Auburn) don't want anything to do with us?"

The state Department of Environmental Protection has told the town that the present dump is continued on Page Eight

WEST PARIS SELECTMEN REVIEW BUDGET ITEMS AT JAN. 10 SESSION

The West Paris Board of Selectmen last Thursday sent invitations to bid on tax anticipation loans to four banks: Key Bank, Maine National Bank, Casco Northern Bank, and Oxford Bank and Trust. The selectmen want to borrow $175,000 to cover expenses before taxes are collected. Key Bank provided the loan last year.

The selectmen are also looking for old photos to dress up the new town report, which will be printed in-house again. The board wants any sort of old photos, either of people or scenes. They must be in black and white and they will be returned. Anyone with old photos willing to donate them for use in the town report, should take them to the West Paris town office.

The selectmen began tackling the money articles for this year's annual town meeting. Some preliminary figures for inclusion in the warrant are: $6,700 for Tri-Town Ambulance, down from continued on Page Eight

WOODSTOCK SELECTMEN DISCUSS VARIOUS TOPICS AT TUESDAY MEETING

Tuesday night the Woodstock selectmen were busy with several organizational matters. First, was the Town Report. The state auditor has been to the town office for the second time, preparatory to preparing a financial statement for inclusion in the Town Report. The selectmen have accepted the bid of Copey, in South Paris, for printing this report. The cover will have a picture of the Woodstock Museum. Ruby Emery will write an article on the museum.

Another subject discussed was the school budget. The selectmen anticipate Woodstock's contribution will have to increase by about 5% this year. The schools annually make up about half of the town's budget.

The selectmen also noted that the district would be considering continued on Page Five

HEALTH & SERVICE COUNCIL COMPLETES PURCHASE OF FORMER A&P BUILDING

The Northern Oxford Health and Service Council recently completed purchase of the former A&P building on Railroad Street for the future housing of the Bethel Area Health Center.

After several years of study and looking at a number of alternatives, the council's facilities committee recommended the purchase and renovation of the A&P structure to the council's board of trustees at its Dec. 6, 1984 meeting. After successful negotiations with the previous owners of the building, transfer of ownership was made to Lynda H. Chandler, president of the Northern Oxford Health and Service Council, on behalf of the trustees on Dec. 31, 1984.

The council is working with Farmers Home Administration to seek the additional funds needed to complete renovation of the building to meet the requirements necessary to house a community health center.

Local Olympic hopefuls training at Lake Placid

Bethel is well represented among hopefuls training for the 1988 winter Olympics at Lake Placid, N.Y., this winter. Two of them, Jody Shimamura and Jon Owen, took second place last week in the national championships for the two-man luge.

Reaching speeds of 60 mph on the 1,000-meter luge run, the team of Shimamura and Owen missed a first place a mere second after upsetting on the first of two runs.

Also at Lake Placid this winter are Roger Smith, training for the cross-country team; Kurt Seigel, training for the biathlon; and Eric Dombkowski, training for the jumping team.

Speaker Martin urges executives to fight workers' comp abuses

House Speaker John Martin (D-Eagle Lake) faced a concerned group of predominantly wood-based industry executives Tuesday night in South Paris and told them there were no one-step cures for their problems with workers' compensation.

Speaking to about 75 members of the Western Maine Industrial Management Club at Positively Maine Street, Speaker Martin warned that they "won't lower costs by reducing benefits."

He said, "I'm not opposed to reducing benefits, but that ought to be a last step."

Instead of viewing benefits to workers as the main problem in the state's decade-old workers' comp law, he suggested that employers consider fighting claims that they consider unfounded. Don't pay questionable claims, he told the industrial managers. Hire lawyers and fight such claims.

At the same time, he did acknowledge that the state's liberal workers' comp legislation, under which 100,000 claims are filed yearly, lends itself to abuse. "When you make a law, someone's going to abuse it . . . You have a small minority (of workers) who are dishonest."

In order to curtail abuses of the law, the legislature this year will try to organize investigative teams to examine claims believed by management to be questionable, he said.

He also assigned much of the blame for the high cost of workers' comp, which costs some pulp-mill operators $33 for every $100 in wages, to the insurance companies. He charged that many insurance companies pay claims without investigating them, and then simply ask for higher rates to compensate for the expenses.

He also blamed lawyers for the high cost of workers' comp, noting that after the law was amended two years ago to eliminate attorneys in uncontested cases, there was an 89% reduction in legal fees attendant to settlements.

In all, he said, he was pleased with the revisions already made to the law, saying they "have been effective." But further revisions are needed, he said, and the Democrat-controlled legislature will this year present bills to restrain workers injured on the job, crack down on abusers, and allow small businesses to self-insure in order to escape high insurance company costs. The legislature might also consider reducing the rate of increase of benefits, he said. "Those of us concerned are attacking the problem on a broad front," he assured his audience.

Newry mulling cable TV hook-up

The Town of Newry may be the next area town added to the number of towns signing up for service with Bethel Cablevision.

The Newry selectmen on Monday discussed a proposal made by the cable TV company. The terms of the proposal, similar to contracts signed by other area towns would give the town of Newry 24% of gross revenue collected from town residents by the cable TV company. The basic monthly charge would be $9 per TV hook-up.

Sunday River resort has been in touch with Bethel Cablevision, the selectmen noted, and would like to have the condos at the mountain wired for cable.

GREENWOOD SELECTMEN PONDER BUDGET TONIGHT

Selectman Norman Millett was absent from Tuesday night's Greenwood selectmen's meeting so the warrant for town meeting will be discussed tonight (Thursday).

Selectman Wayne Redman estimated that the cost of the dump operation should double in 1985 from the $4,000 budgeted in 1984. The reason for this increase is the Solid Waste Transfer Station Plan which began Nov. 1, 1984.

Two years ago the state Department of Environmental Protection ordered Greenwood and Woodstock to "clean up their dumps" by discontinuing the burning of rubbish.

BETHEL SELECTMEN TO INTERVIEW TOWN MANAGER FINALIST MONDAY EVENING

The Bethel Board of Selectmen will have a second interview Monday evening with the leading candidate for the position of town manager. The board interviewed four of the 16 applicants for the job last Wednesday and, according to sources, they like a candidate from Auburn the best. A sticking point in the interview is expected to be salary. The candidate is reportedly asking for considerably more than the selectmen are prepared to offer.

The last town manager, Bill Judson, was getting $18,000. The selectmen are said to be willing to offer $19,000 for a new town manager.

Following the 6 p.m. interview—which is closed to the public—the selectmen will hold their regular meeting starting at 7 p.m.

The DEP suggested that the two towns work together, so they united their dump sites, at Greenwood.

Now, the rubbish is being hauled from Greenwood by the Androscoggin Valley Refuse Service to the incinerator in Auburn. The cost for one year is $12,500 for hauling plus $4,000 for the dump attendant. Woodstock pays 60% and Greenwood pays 40%.

Sent in by Viva Whitman:

What a chilly, frosty week this has been. Only two above zero
this morning and it sure feels it.
I don't plan to go out any more than I need to. Guess I'm getting chicken in my old age, but don't like the cold weather at all. The windows are pretty with the sun shining through the frost and it looks like Old Jack Frost had a wonderful time making scenes on all the windows.

Went to Greenwood on Sunday afternoon to visit our Aunt Doris Hayes for a short while. We had a nice visit and it had been a long time since we had gotten up to see her. In looking in an old album that she had, we found the picture that was given to me that I was told was my Great Grandfather Hayes. I had never seen a picture of him until Helen Bailey gave me one the other week and no one knew who the gentleman was in the picture that Doris had. Now, that mystery is solved, but there are several young children that I wish we knew who they were. One should always write names under pictures and we don't do it.

Had to go to town on Tuesday for surplus supplies and do a few errands but not too many as I get too tired and have to rest when I get that way. It does seem good to be able to do more each day.
Have been crocheting some when I sit around and also have finished knitting a hat and mitten set for Courtney. Hope it fits good and she likes it. She is a lot like her Nana and doesn't like a hat on her head, guess I'll have to get used to wearing something and covering my mouth and nose also.

Did some changing around on Wednesday as Nonie was coming to stay over night on Thursday and wanted to get at my blankets that were packed away. In the afternoon, I decided to work on my African violets. They need it badly, so had some that were growing and needed new pots, also had some that had more than one plant in the pot, as African violets sometimes do, so it took lots of soil and time to do all that needed doing. They looked better when I got through with them and Russell put up some brackets to hang my Swedish ivy so they wouldn't cover the bow window so much. They have really grown and even though I trim them a lot, they grow and grow and fill up the window so it is hard to see out. I have heard some who say they can't grow Swedish ivy but I don't have a bit of trouble with them and I also have a Spier-plant that has grown like nobody's business so put that into a pretty Mexican pot that Nonie and Mike brought me when they made their trip to California. It looks real nice and will be even better when

I hope by this time that Lauronie and Courtney came about 11 on Thursday and after lunch,

Nonie went to work while Russell,
Courtney and I made a trip to North Bridgton to get my back
tinkered, then called at the doctor's office to see what I could
do to get my stomach and bowels
to feel better. Had to wait for quite a while, but Courtney stayed asleep and was a real good girl
for us.

After the change in medication,
I am feeling more like myself and
that seems good. I don't appreciate having heart burn and as I
told the doctor, it was so hot I
could have boiled cabbage on it.

Took Courtney with us to errands on Friday while Nonie was
at work at the Clinic and as usual, she was a good girl. She and I had both laid down for a while in the forenoon and then she had a good nap in the afternoon and had a short one too. Came home
with Nonie and Courtney and guess
the change in the medication is working as I sure slept for a change. It seemed good not to lay awake and think of all kinds of things during the night. That is what has been happening and I
was sick of it.

The sun is shining brightly this morning and there is a little girl
who keeps coming to say "Hi" to everyone. She is a busy little one
and I wish I had as much ambition as she seems to have. I think both Nonie and I could use some of it. Where little ones get so much
ambition to use up, I don't know,
but they have a big supply of it.

Expect to be in Lewiston for the next few days to baby sit for Nonie
while she goes to teach school at night and I will enjoy watching
the antics of a small girl. It is as good as a circus at times to watch
the things she does and if you could see her when she is talking on her phone, you would laugh
too. She goes through the darndest
motions and really tries to tell
you whatever she has on her mind. I love to watch her and
like any small child, she can be a lot of entertainment. Got to get this in the mail and I am not
used to this typewriter, so will call
it enough for this time. Hope everyone out there is keeping warm
and comfy in this cold weather. It could be worse, but thank the Lord, it isn't.

Courtney and I made a trip to
North Bridgton to get my back
tinkered, then called at the doctor's office to see what I could
do to get my stomach and bowels
to feel better. Had to wait for
quite a while, but Courtney stayed
asleep and was a real good girl
for us.

After the change in medication,
I am feeling more like myself and
that seems good. I don't appreciate having heart burn and as I
told the doctor, it was so hot I
could have boiled cabbage on it.

Took Courtney with us to er-
rands on Friday while Nonie was
at work at the Clinic and as usual, she was a good girl. She and I had both laid down for a while
in the forenoon and then she had
a good nap in the afternoon and
had a short one too. Came home
with Nonie and Courtney and guess
the change in the medication is
working as I sure slept for a
change. It seemed good not to lay
awake and think of all kinds of things during the night. That is what has been happening and I
was sick of it.

The sun is shining brightly this
morning and there is a little girl
who keeps coming to say "Hi" to
everyone. She is a busy little one
and I wish I had as much ambition as she seems to have. I think
both Nonie and I could use some
of it. Where little ones get so much
ambition to use up, I don't know,
but they have a big supply of it.

Expect to be in Lewiston for the
next few days to baby sit for Nonie
while she goes to teach school at
night and I will enjoy watching
the antics of a small girl. It is as good as a circus at times to watch
the things she does and if you
could see her when she is talking on her phone, you would laugh
too. She goes through the darndest
motions and really tries to tell
you whatever she has on her
mind. I love to watch her and
like any small child, she can be a lot of entertainment. Got to get
this in the mail and I am not
used to this typewriter, so will call
it enough for this time. Hope everyone out there is keeping warm
and comfy in this cold weather. It could be worse, but thank the Lord, it isn't.

Rotary Club News

The Bethel Rotary Club met at the Sudbury Inn for a lunch meeting on Tuesday, Jan. 15.

The program chairman was Bill Clough. His program consisted of a group of four Gould Academy students participating in an on-going project known as "Reach Out," which has a similarity to Rotary Interact. The students participating were, Anne Courchesne, team leader and coordinator (New Hampshire), Darryl Swirsky (Massachusetts), Mary Beth Isham, Bethel, and Eric Sahud (California). These students represented Gould Academy in a service component of the school working on local programs as well. Each team member spoke about the area of service they were responsible for and the goals and accomplishments achieved. Their work with the elderly, fund raising to provide medical care, clothing, medical services, etc., was highlighted by the coordinator, Anne Courchesne. The members of Rotary appreciate being addressed by this fine group of young dedicated, intelligent students with goals extending beyond the classroom.

Visiting Rotarians and guests joining with the club on Tuesday were Jody Shimamura, guest of Lennie Shaw; Roy Silver, guest of Roger Conant, and Scott Dennis, guest of Dave Preble.

A letter of thanks received from Cipi, the wife of the District Governor, was read to the club members, in thanks for the contribution of money made by the Rotary-Anns, in support of the orphanage in the Dominican Republic. She was most grateful for the support provided.

The program next week will be confined to a visit to Dr. Lennie Shaw's office and will be an orientation and briefing on what makes optometry tick. Visitation to Rotary members' businesses was a suggestion presented by Bill Clough and it is one that will be pursued in future programming.

Rollie Glines, the presiding Sgt.-at-Arms, was present at the Tuesday meeting. He is recovering from an appendectomy. Rollie was the object of some good natured joshing but members are glad he is doing fine. Just be back next week and keep the records straight for Ed Quinn—you hear!!

Safety Tip

Hypothermia is the generalized cooling of the body due to prolonged exposure to the cold. Be aware that this condition can and does occur in temperatures above freezing.

Failing body systems, chronic illness, poor diet, lack of exercise combined with trying to save on the fuel bill are the basic reasons that hypothermia is a danger to the elderly every winter. That's why, as we get older, we must make sure we eat balanced meals, get some exercise and stay warm.

The signs of hypothermia include: shivering, numbness, drowsiness, decreased level of awareness, staggering, failing eyesight, a slow pulse, and slow breathing.

If you suspect hypothermia, call for the ambulance—the person definitely needs to be seen by hospital personnel. While waiting, get the patient inside, remove wet clothing and wrap the patient in blankets. Do not give an alcohol drink—do not give any fluids unless the patient is quite alert.

The Annual Town Report has been completed and is ready for the printer. The town finished the year with no overdrawn accounts. All accounts either balance off or showed an unexpended balance.

Total unexpended balances in all accounts was $90,063.98, leaving the town with a nice surplus at the year end. Approximately 4.8% of the 1984 Tax commitment of $132,917.16 remained unpaid at the closing of the books Dec. 31. Unpaid Tax Liens total $1,638.67. Total funds invested at the year end were $98,224.99. The surplus, plus other revenue, such as Excise Tax, back taxes paid, etc., should enable the town to operate until 1985 taxes start coming in without borrowing money.

Nancy Wight, Betsy Clark, June Swan, Olive and Jim Anderson, Thelma Lowery and Gilberte Seelye were in Rumford bowling, Jan. 8. Gilberte Seelye was high scorer.

The Ladies Circle met Jan. 7, at the home of Louise Learned with eight members present. Devotions were read by the hostess. Business was reviewed by the secretary and treasurer, Sylvia Harrington. Olive Anderson brought members up to date on church finances. Since it is a small church and not a commercial business they could not understand why the bill was so high, and discussed what could be done about it. The next meeting will be at the home of Freda Robertson Feb. 4, at 7:30 p.m. There will be a white elephant sale.

less the patient is quite alert. Be gentle, there may be frostbite to deal with also, but treat only the hypothermia. Keep a close watch on the pulse and breathing. Next week—Alcohol and driving, use some common sense.

Letters to the Editor

To the Citizens of the Town of Woodstock:

Another day, another road commissioner. Why? If it's not the budget, or the commissioner himself, could the problem lie within us citizens who are perhaps being inconsiderate towards our commissioners?

With town meeting approaching, we will be electing another full time road commissioner, and I think it is high time some citizens get a few facts to dwell on before the election.

I have worked for the Department of Transportation for 14 years and my duties are basically the same as the commissioners, so these facts are not derived from hearsay.

Much hassle comes during the winter months, when the pressures are the greatest on our commissioners.

It's impossible for everyone to have their road in tip-top shape during the winter months. Our budget couldn't and wouldn't allow it.

Let me focus on a couple of areas that might change your outlook, as to the challenges of this job.

There are many winter nights, weekends, as well as Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays that you are sitting home with your family, enjoying your favorite show, beverage, or just relaxing near the fire, that your commissioner is out in the blinding snow or freezing rain, maintaining your road so it is possible for you to get to work (if you work), or where ever you desire to go.

The commissioner's job is not like a factory-type employment. He can be called out at anytime, day or night regardless of the hour if necessary.

There have been occasions where he has spent very few hours with his family due to severe snow storms.

Time for him with his family is just as valuable to him as time for you with your family.

Some evening when it's freezing rain and you have some spare time, follow the commissioner so you can see how these icy roads are maintained, and the type of environment that he faces. You may want to take along an extra pair of underwear, because there sure are times you'll swear your going to need them.

If you think you have to call the commissioner at home for any reason, don't take your frustration out on his wife or family if he isn't present. If it's that serious I'm sure his superiors will bring it to his attention.

There are many unseen hours performed in winter road maintenance that the citizens of the Town of Woodstock or the public as a whole never see.

So just sit back and put yourself in his shoes for a while and ask yourself, "Should I call and complain, or leave him alone and let him do his job."

For those who are complaining, if you fore-see yourself doing a better job than the previous commissioner, let's see some campaigning before March.

SUNDAY RIVER SKI TOURING CENTER & SKI AREA JOINTLY PROMOTING TELEMARK SPORT

Sunday River Ski Touring Center and Sunday River Ski Area have entered into a cooperative agreement to help advance the sport of telemark skiing (downhill skiing on cross country-type skis). The touring center has purchased an inventory of telemark rental equipment and has instructors available to teach beginners and advanced participants in the sport. The ski area has agreed to provide a teaching area at South Ridge slopes where instruction will be given.

Anyone who is an intermediate or better downhill or cross country skier and who is interested in the challenges of this newly discovered type of skiing is urged to contact Sunday River Ski Touring Center for details.

An introductory telemark clinic will be offered on Saturday, Jan. 19, at 10 a.m. at the touring center.

Since 1983 she has taught home economics, reading and slow divisions in SAD 17. She has also taught science at Old Orchard Beach Junior High School, and was director of a federal program, Project Inside/Outside in the Amesbury (Mass.) public schools. From 1971-81 she taught home economics and health at Amesbury (Mass.) Junior High School. She has also been an adult education instructor at the Haverhill (Mass.) Trade School, as well as serving as a part time consultant for Little Industries.

The directors approved a school calendar for the 1985-86 school year containing a provision for five storm days. A request for termination of school attendance by a 15-year-old Telstar Regional High School freshman was approved.

The directors approved the following article to be included in the warrants for annual town meetings in the member municipalities of SAD 44: Should the School Administrative District No. 44 Directors be paid compensation at the rate of $15 for each board meeting each director attends.

The board took action formally to accept the resignation of Anita Remington as study hall aide effective Jan. 4, and to post a vacancy in the position. Wanda Johnson was approved as a non-instructional study hall aide at Telstar Regional High School.

A two-year negotiated agreement between the SAD 44 Board of Directors and the Telstar Educators Association was ratified. The agreement is effective the first working day of the 1985-86 school year and shall expire the day before the first work day of the 1987-88 school year.

The regular board meeting scheduled for March 25 was postponed until April 1. Superintendent Dewaine Craig will be on an evaluation team visit to Millinockett during the week of March 25.

The board voted to waive minimum class-size requirements for courses offered during the spring semester at Telstar Regional High School. Twenty-eight individuals or organizations were approved to provide instructional services in the SAD 44 Adult Education program for the diploma program, short general enrichment courses and cabin fever specials.

John Foster attended his first meeting as a member of the board from Andover. Mr. Foster succeeds Desda Fogg who resigned as she has moved from the area.

Board members not present Monday evening were Rick McVey of Newry and John Haines of Greenwood. The Greenwood position left vacant by the resignation of Sylvia Cross has not yet been filled.

The SAD 44 directors are scheduled to meet in special session next Monday evening, Jan. 21, at seven o'clock in the Telstar lecture hall for work on the fiscal year 1986 budget.

The next regular meeting of the board will be at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, Jan. 28, in the Telstar library.

Hanover historian is kin to 18th century settler

One may well ask, why a history of Hanover, the town is only 7.53 square miles in size—the seventh smallest town among the 427 towns in Maine—and has only a few hundred year-round residents.

Nevertheless, it now has its own history, "A History of Hanover, Maine, 1774-1980," with Associated Historical Events," written by Alfred F. Howard, of Augusta.

In response to the question, Why a history of Hanover, Mr. Howard, 77 years old, told The Citizen:

"My reasons for undertaking this task, that started in the fall of 1979, are twofold. Since 1915 I have spent summers in whole or in part at Howard Pond, and for many years have owned camps and land at the Pond, a part of the original Howard Gore, now a part of Hanover, since 1843.

"Secondly, my ancestry dates back to 1794 when Phineas Howard, Sr., (my great-great grandfather) purchased the Howard Gore from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts for 112 pounds and three shillings. My lineage is from Phineas Sr., who died in the Gore in 1851, to Joseph, who was born and died in the Gore, to Preston O., who was born in the Gore but died in North Rumford, to my dad, Frank F., who was a resident of Hanover at the time of his death.

"I have referred to the Gore, although it became a part of Hanover on Feb. 14, 1843. The other part of Hanover was that part of Bethel north of the south channel of the Androscoggin River.

"Some of the people who assisted me to a large degree by furnishing information and pictures are Ernest L. Holt, Frank W. Worcester, Warren Stearns and Marion Taylor, and others, including Stanley Howe, (of Bethel)."

Mr. Howard's history of Hanover was printed privately, as a loss of a few thousand dollars, he says, and is available from the author, at Route 5, Box 278, in Augusta, for $35.

This history is encyclopaedic rather than narrative and contains chapters on covered bridges, ferries on the Androscoggin, roads, homes, churches, disastrous fires, and hundreds of anecdotes, family histories and genealogies. The 375-page book has considerable information on Bethel, Mr. Howard says.

In his chapter on mills, he locates 12 mills in Hanover, including grain mills, sawmills, woolen mills and tanneries. There are 232 photographs in the book.

WEEK OF PRAYER COMING, JANUARY 18-25

The inter-denominational Week of Prayer for Christian Unity, Jan. 18-25, will once again be observed by the member congregations of the Bethel Area Church Association. The theme for this year, "From Death to Life with Christ," was chosen by an ecumenical group from Jamaica, West Indies. When this group reflects upon local conditions and the situation of their developing country, they see the Jamaican people frequently powerless. All too often they find themselves caught between power blocs and their conflicting ideologies. And their country is frequently destabilized by technological development which takes too little account of human values.

In this context the Christians of Jamaica, united in Prayer, chose the theme and find in the letter to the Ephesians the courage to

Telstar basketball

Telstar's girls' and boys' varsity basketball teams both continue to have trouble with Carabec — both teams losing last Thursday and Friday, respectively.

The squads also lost to Leavitt earlier this week, but by smaller margins than in their earlier meetings. On Saturday, playing in Freeport, the girls notched a win, while the boys absorbed a loss.

The girls journey to Mexico tonight (Thursday) while the boys face Mexico on the home court tomorrow (Friday). The matchups begin at 6 p.m. both nights, starting with the JV contests.

CAR-TRUCK MISHAP FRIDAY

AT SUNDAY RIVER TURN-OFF
A driver falling asleep at the wheel was the apparent cause of an accident last Friday that left a Bethel resident hospitalized.

Timothy F. Zaugg, 27, of Chandler Hill Road, was taken to Rumford Community Hospital last Friday after his 1977 Plymouth station wagon was torn in half by a 1967 GMC logging truck driven by Gregory Merrill, 27, of Route 26 in Newry.

Trooper Richard Donald, the officer who responded to the 6 a.m. accident on Route 2 just east of Sunday River road, said Mr. Zaugg had apparently fallen asleep at the wheel. The accident occurred when Mr. Merrill swerved to avoid the station wagon, which then also swerved right into the loader's path. The point of impact was in the eastbound lane.

A Bethel ambulance responded and loaded Mr. Zaugg for the trip to Rumford, but then broke down.

A second ambulance had to be dispatched from Bethel, according to EMTs on the scene.

Gaudreault's wreckers came for the demolished station wagon and the loader, which suffered front-end damage. The loader is owned by John Wright of Newry.

Mr. Zaugg suffered lacerations of the head, a broken right arm, broken right leg, plus numerous contusions and lacerations. He underwent surgery last week and again on Monday. A nurse at the hospital said he was in pain but was not in danger. He would be at the hospital for awhile, she said.

S.A.D. #44 DENTAL HEALTH REPORT

This year, the month of February has been set aside to emphasize 'good dental health habits' all over the country. In SAD 44, there will be special projects as part of the Dental Health Education program. Increased emphasis will be placed on healthy snacks at school as well as good dental health habits. As parents and/or friends of school-age children, the district hopes you will support these programs and help ensure their success.

SAD 44 Dental Health Coordinator Linda J. Blake would like to emphasize healthy snacks at holiday (Valentine's Day, etc.) parties, etc., with help through parents and teachers. It is hoped that this can be accomplished and will become a tradition.

National research studies have shown that use of fluorides may significantly reduce dental cavities. In the State of Maine and in SAD 44, fluorides are being combined with a program of dental health education in the schools in an effort to provide better nutrition and home care habits. These programs need family support to become successful.

— Louise Loring, Corres. —

The candles of the New Year are burning onward, and 17 to date have been put behind us. The days are "starting to lengthen and the cold strengthens" as I believe the saying goes. As I look from my window some mornings I find myself thinking that I am in another world. The plastics that we have over the screens on our porch are frosted heavily in delicate airy bouquets of strange appearing fern-type apparitions and, as the sun rises (before its warmth can spoil the intricacies), the myriad of twinkling diamonds seem to appear as if I was enclosed in an abandoned mine somewhere in the bowels of the earth in deep Africa, the diamonds flash opaque green—burnt orange—little pieces of red flashing fire, and in other directions yellow prisms dance along its etched tunnel.

Opening the door to step outside to replenish the enormous appetite of our heater the boards creek with their coldness and the steam from my nostrils clouds my vision.

Not tarrying I hastily re-enter, depositing my arm full of hardwood into the cavernous belly of the wood-box. Gazing from this window northward the snow topped mountains I see there are just as imposing as Fujiyama, wearing their New Year's white mantles, solitary and majestic in their lonely splendor. The bushes of the summer somehow transform themselves into tiny red-capped pagodas, as they lie in the grip of our successive cold days and colder nights.

There is a secret thrill felt at night as the mercury plunges below zero: the frost heaves the rafters and its muffled booms like distant thunder—break the stillness of the night like a sonic boom.

It's seasonable—it's healthy—it's satisfying—it's January—logs sputter on the fire—tiny red lines of its burning wink through the iced glass windows—as one by one the January candles are put to rest.

Winter is an adversary to be stood up to—we must give to the battle—and emerge victorious—And I have traveled to many far off lands in its progress without leaving Gilead. Peace everyone!

Word was received by Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Smith of Bog Road, that their daughter, Stephanie, who attends Anna Maria College in Paxton, Mass., and is studying to become a lab technician, made the honor roll this past semester.

Greenwood City

— Mrs. Collette Morgan Corres. —

As a looked down toward the pond this morning, I thought of it as the eye of the land. The land changes with the seasons, as expected, but the "eye's" momentary, and subtle, in summer it may change from rain-dimpled to sparkling blue, to gray, within an hour, from misty sheen to black, during the day. Looking down at it from my home above it, I can observe its changes from dark water or clear. When looking at it from the shore line with its sedges at the edge, the surface gleams wide, flat, and opaque. The deepest part of the pond lies toward the south from us.

Until the dam was completed in 1949 at the center of the "city," Sanborn River flowed through to where this is, so there was little depth of water except in what we call the channel.

At that time there had been much talk; people saying "something ought to be done about the Outlet Dam." The nearly-century-old wooden and stone barrier was continuing to weaken until Mount Abram Fish and Game Assn. decided to "do something about it."

Until something was done, West Paris, six miles down river, was always a bit queasy; about the possibility of the old barrier letting go in a spring freshet and sending the water down on them.

The new dam ended that fear and the work was done with volunteers and some donations from all over.

There was an appointed committee, made up of a supervisor, a head carpenter, and a cement tender. In two weeks the forms were built and the cement poured. When the forms came off 50 loads of sand were dumped along the shore near the dam.

All neighbors turned out for this job and did a splendid piece of work, which was sparked by the F. and G. a bit of history to remember.

Well, there is a difference between a lake and a pond so I have read. The terminology of the two is somewhat confusing. Technically, ponds are shallow enough for plants to grow across the area and are rooted on the bottom. A lake is deeper where no plants grow because of insufficient light. We have many plants out front but few in Big Pond.

Now it's winter so the pond is one mass of ice and snow and the channel is always a question of safety. I know of two incidents, in my years here, when the ice has given way and a person has gone through for a cold bath. Both were fortunate enough to get out without help. One took place in daylight and the other at night, when a young girl was walking home from a skating party alone.

Whether lake or pond, in sum-

NOTES FROM WOODSTOCK

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Here is an interesting quote on the American dream:

"If we are to have a rich and full life in which all are to share and play their parts, if the American dream is to be a reality, and communal spiritual and intellectual life much be distinctly higher than elsewhere, where classes and groups have their separate interests, habits, markets and lives. If the dream is not to prove possible fulfillment, we might as well become stark realists, become once more class-conscious, struggle as individuals or classes against one another. If it is to come true, those on top, financially, intellectually, or otherwise, have got to devote themselves to the Great Society and those who are below in the scale have got to strive to rise, not merely economically, but culturally. We cannot become a great democracy by giving ourselves up as individuals to selfishness, physical comfort, and cheap amusements. The very foundation of the American dream of a better and richer life for all is that all, in varying degrees, shall be capable of wanting to share in it. It can never be wrought into a reality by cheap people or by keeping up with the Joneses. If we are to make the dream come true we must all work together, no longer to build bigger but to build better. There is a time for quantity and a time for quality. . . . I mean a genuine individual search and striving for the abiding values of life. The epic loses all its glory without the dream."—James Truslow Adams.

Recent acquisitions of the Society include a family Bible and a picture of the old Livery Stable. Materials are now in the museum for this year's renovations.

mer or winter I find their beauty as well as in many other things in the valley.

There are always the round hills covered with pine, an expression of grandeur and solemnity. A pine grove has character unique, with certain harmonious blending of light and dark, which may bring a feeling of cheerfulness or gloom; lights ever changing because of the thickness, above. Underneath and among the winter trees are the woodland creatures seeking a warmer place from winds that tell of zero weather.

These same trees shelter the birds, while their branches reach upward toward brightness. The silent earth is resting enfolded in the silence of the white solitude.

"Beauty is so many things friends we know and love . . . Little things and shining stars snowwhite clouds above. All our hearts might find worth while in this world of his . . . A garden path all fresh with dew, that's what beauty is."

—Garnett A. Schultz

Cold is what most people talk about now, but no record broken yet. I remember walking to school many mornings with temperatures far below the zero mark.

Our Tuesday Club met with Helen Chojnacki this last week at her home. We were glad that Dot Betts joined us.

Sisters of Doris Hayes, Verna Libby and Lenora Waterhouse of Falmouth, are visiting her.

Fred and Rena Curtis were in Brunswick Saturday to attend the 50th wedding anniversary party for Rena's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Wyman. Rena's sister, Ruth Collins, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cogswell went with them.

One day this week Mr. and Mrs. Fred Curtis took dinner with Evelyn Heikkinen in Mexico.

Frank and Dot Curtis had for callers: Phil Bentley, Lewiston; Mrs. Lucy Curtis and son, Tommy. West Sumner; Mildred Bowman, Hebron; Alton Kimball, Waterville; Kathy Curtis, Eva Felton, local.

Ann Holt was at her parents' home Sunday and came to see us.

FEATURING HEARTY NEW ENGLAND FARE & LODGING

ANDOVER EAST

— Mrs. Marjorie Jodrey, Cor. —
On Tuesday, Jan. 8, Mrs. Rex Thurston and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jodrey were in Lewiston on medical business.

With all the cold, windy weather, it has kept the fire department busy with all the chimney fires.

On Saturday, the Boy Scout Troop #573 of Andover with the Scoutmaster "Woody" Greeke took part in the Boy Scout Klondike Derby in Mexico. Scouts attending were Ricky Mixer, Danny Thurston, D.J. Parker and Scott Emery. They placed second in overall competition, and first place in the dog sled race. A good showing for their first year of scouting.

Charles Jaros has returned home after being a patient at Rumford Community Hospital.

Stevie Simmons has returned after being a patient at Central Maine Medical Center in Lewiston.

Rev. Marjorie Churchill's sermon topic on January 13, at the First Congregational Church was "A Constant Call to Renewal." Members on the sick list are Laura Hutchins, Steve Simmons, Frankie Gammon and Jim Goodwin. Greeters were Florence Hall and Mrs. Anne Fox. Thursday, 7 p.m. Adult choir practice. Jan. 18-25 week of Christian unity. Jan. 26, baked bean supper by trustees. Jan. 28, annual meeting at 7 p.m. Greeters for Jan. 20 will be Mr. and Mrs. Roger Mills.

It's too bad there isn't more interest, parent or public, in the flooding and upkeep of the skating rink. A great many children enjoy skating there. Should be some public spirited citizens willing to help. Something to think about, or do something about.

For those interested in the town clerk's office hours, they are Monday, 8 a.m. - 1 p.m.; Tuesday, 1 p.m. to 6 p.m.; closed Wednesday; Thursday, 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.; Friday, 8 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The rabies clinic sponsored by the Snow-Goers Snowmobile Club held at the club house on Saturday was very well attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Palmer of Rumford are receiving congratulations on the birth of their third child, a daughter, born Jan. 14th, at Rumford Community Hospital. She weighed in at 6 lbs. and 6 oz. and has been named Megan Gail. She joins two big brothers, Glen Jr. age 3, and Nathan, age 2. She is the fifth grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Palmer and their first granddaughter. Elderwood Manor items.

Mrs. Louise Powell of Frye visited her mother, Mrs. Alma Hewey on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Fox of Bethel took his mother, Mrs. Anne Fox out to lunch in Errol, N.H., after church on Sunday.

Florence Hall found a "Daddy Long Legs" on her wall one day this week that had probably sneaked in last fall out of the freezing cold. She didn't say if she invited him to stay awhile or if she threw him out.

John Elliott visited his aunt, Dot Elliott, one day this week.

Mrs. Bernice Glover made a trip to the out patient department at Rumford Community Hospital on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Plantier and children visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman White on Sunday.

Snow fell Monday night of the light fluffy kind. We had about 3 to 4 inches. The wind had fun with it. It was near the zero mark and windy which made it feel much colder.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Hathaway have nearly finished remodeling their trailers in the Oxford area.

WEST PARIS VOTERS FAVOR

unacceptable but has not mentioned a date by which it must be closed, and some voters felt the town should sit tight before committing itself to a new system.

"If there's no deadline set, how come we don't put this off to the regular town meeting, instead of a special town meeting?" asked Richard Baker of the selectmen.

But most of the ire of the approximately 30 voters in attendance—predominantly men—was reserved for the dump attendant, who was not at the meeting.

"Will there be any guarantee that there'll be a change of the dump attendant — for better or for worse?" queried Mr. Baker. Selectman Hugo Heikkinen replied, "We'll meet that problem when we come to it."

Many seemed to think the question of the attendant was the main problem that needed attention. "Why doesn't somebody say something to him?" Why doesn't he do his job?"

"He just sits in his car and doesn't do anything," complained another man.

Terry Merrill suggested that dump attendant Earle Billings be held accountable to a job description. "I'd like some assurance that there should be a job description for the dump attendant," she said. While the voters went along unanimously on the question of converting the dump to a dumpster station, and were also unanimously in favor of authorizing the selectmen to solicit bids for setting up and operating the "green box" concept, they were mildly split on the question of allocating an unspecified amount of money to prepare the site. The money is to come from the Capital Reserve Landfill Fund, in which there is currently over $27,000. Two residents voted nay on the question.

The City of Auburn has told the Town of West Paris that it is number one on the waiting list of towns anxious to take their trash to the incinerator. Nearby Woodstock and Greenwood started late last year sending their trash to Auburn.
